A HOLE-IN-ONE

When a golfer holes out the ball from the tee with one stroke, he or she earns kudos for having made a hole-in-one. Golfers are crazy about holes-in one. Making the shot is the ultimate trial of skill and proficiency... and a little luck.

A hole-in-one is one of the rare achievements that a professional golfer always strives for let alone recreational golfers. So we were more than a little excited for Mike Fyman for his hole-in-one. Not just because of his awesome accomplishment but because he used one of the finest golf balls ever.

HE USED A TOP VALUE GOLF BALL.

That's right. Using a Top Value golf ball Mike Fyman shot a hole-in-one on the 4th hole at the Inkster Valley Golf Club. The 4th hole is 148 yards and Mr. Fyman used a 7 iron to get it there.

A self proclaimed undisciplined golfer, Mr. Fyman could not believe his good luck. He won't attribute the accomplishment to the golf ball (and neither will we) but we sure were glad that he shared his story with us.

Congratulations Mike!!!
